The best use of the device is it's use for unblocking the blocks in flow. The QXCI can detect faults in the acupuncture meridian flow and correct them. It can find faults in the energetic make up and correct them. It can find faults in the brain wave and correct them as well. Finally the system can help in finding ways to reduce symptoms thru other naturopathic means.

So the primary goal of our system is to stimulate the body to heal itself. Symptom reduction is the third priority. We try to prevent the disease from slipping further. We want true healing and long term symptom reduction.

Some patients are more aware of their unconscious. These patients are likely to feel the difference the QXCI device make and recognize the reaction patterns more easily. Others will take more time , but after several visits they will become more aware of their unconscious and feel the effects more.

An Overview

Energy based therapies have existed for millenia: healing, acupuncture, Cranio-sacral and more recently reflexology, Reiki etc. In most modalities it is not possible to treat the whole system. With many systems results do vary with practitioner skill and how they are on the day. The QXCI is practitioner independent.

The Quantum Xxroid: the Ultimate in BioEnergetic Medicine

Energy therapies are without doubt effective. Progress in many chronic disorders has started because of the deep effectiveness of energetic treatments. In many cases they are responsible for nutritional and lifestyle changes becoming effective. Quantum therapy is an extension of energy based tests. Previous resistance only therapy devices have enhanced and revitalised natural bodily healing processes with preset programs. The Quantum extends this to 3D. It brings continuously adapting interactive therapy. The autofocus feedback system ensures the treatment intensity and focus changes in tune with itseffects. If the body doesn't need that input any longer it is recognised. A balanced system will not absorb the healing energy. For example it becomes possible to check and treat all the acupuncture meridians and then to go deeper into specific meridians and points

Treating with energetic remedies

It is possible to energetically treat in many places in the program. Nurturing remedies can be used as is: harmful items can be inverted to cancel an undesirable energetic pattern stored in cellular memories.

Specific areas beyond the test screen where this facility operates includes:

- Nutrition
- Homeopathy
- Sarcodes (organs)
- Homotoxicology (detox treatments)

Automatic therapies

Auto selection & Auto focus

As the THERAPY SCREEN appears there will be a suggested primary therapy mode if the computer has chosen one. This is written on the top of the screen. As that most of the primary therapies are autofocusing the most you need to know is often how to just hit start. The autofocus system will do the rest: it is just like the autofocus on a video camera. As the subject moves it senses this (feedback) and alters its setting. So the Quantum is continuously monitoring the results of the input to the client and adjusting its output.

There are several types of energetic therapy available and several ways to deliver them. The upper right box allows you the choice of delivery. Remove the harness for Virtual treatment. (See advanced manual for full details of this function). These therapies involve subspace treatments and active energetic frequencies of voltage and amperage oscillations through the parallel port of the harness.

The Quantum Xxroid: the Ultimate in BioEnergetic Medicine

The power double switch on the button will activate a double signal for any function. The system will then put two wave forms together to get a double power and gain. This will still satisfy any safety levels but produces a more penetrating signal. Use for deep stubborn disease.

On the main therapy screen there are therapies for Rife treatments , Bicom or Mora like treatments, Trivector treatments, and others with facility to user set various parameters and programmes. These are designed for use by doctors with experience and or training with energetic intervention. For the doctors and therapists with little experience there are provided several automatic treatments. Since this system is interactive an automatic system is a last possible. Now the device can do BIORESONANCE therapy and evaluate the progress. It can terminate the program when the therapy has accomplished the goals and prolong or intensify the therapy if required. In essence this system can make midcourse corrections in the therapy treatment. It can sense and make the required changes most compatible for the patient.

Most of these autofocusing systems are so easy to operate. Just hit start. The computer does the rest. Don't complain because it is too easy. Make it look hard for your patients sake, so they respect the process.

Auto Meridian

This automatically stimulates the acupuncture meridians and tries to adjust them with frequency adjustment techniques. The device will also tell us which meridians are yang or yin as well as whether the patient is excess yin or yang electrically at the time of the test.

In the acupuncture program there is a program that will allow you to process acupoints in a specific order. This can be used for phobias or any other acupuncture type function.

Auto frequency

This automatically treats with Rife frequencies the organs and the polarity disturbances of the patient.

The Program will Generate Rife frequencies and detect reactive frequencies, and organ polarity frequency reactions. The therapy can take from 2 to 5 min. The most reactive frequencies are displayed and the organs of polarity disturbances are displayed in dark letters. Click each individually to try to correct or check the treat all switch to set the system to treat all disturbances. The uncorrectable problems will be displayed.

Auto colour

treats the patient with color therapy and finally chooses the best healing color for the patient.

Auto trivector

operates like the Bicom and Mora devices but with this cybernetic interface this system can adjust the treatment program to the best treatment capacities for maximum results. DNA therapy (electrical repair, adjustment of the DNA frequency structure, allocation to a specific chromosome) is also available from here.

Scalar

therapy tries to correct the energetic Chakra disturbances. The auto program will treat all chakras in sequence .You can select individual chakras for your own sequence. There is also facility for past connection and future projection.

Auto frequency modulation offers the functions of EEG, ECG, trivector, subspace transform, organ systems, autonomic nerval tests, and others. On the Organ systems Panel is the Adipose Tissue Treatment program which has been researched in France to break up Fat tissue.

There are also treatments giving the energetic equivalent of the more physical energetic therapies

- Reflexology
- Cranial sacral
- Irridology
- Oriental face diagnosis

- Adipose tissue breakup
- Sympathetic system stimulus
- Parasympathetic stimulus

Zapping

This is the term used for energetic treatments. There is a choice of 3 seconds or 3 minutes.

There is also an unique facility to Zap a whole spectrum of dysfunctions: this approach transmits a frequency which resonates with the species cell wall membrane resulting in disintegration.

The Disease Lexicon

This facility contains a comprehensive list of conditions with facilities to energetically treat.

SCIO Enhanced Facilities

- The SCIO interface is more precise via automatic selection of the waveform most appropriate to the issue being treated. This is reported to give a deeper and more effective therapy. The QXCI is able to interact with square waves only.

The Quantum Xxroid: the Ultimate in BioEnergetic Medicine

- The SCIO incorporates a multitude of 3D body part views which the client can see on a monitor thus enhancing the mind body interface and client awareness/ownership of their health process.
- With the SCIO it is possible to have 3 treatment aspects operating concurrently
 1. A Clasp (QXCI) treatment program
 2. A Disease Lexicon program
 3. A 3D Bodyviewer (SCIO) program.
