Why do it?

First & Foremost

- The knowledge of Anatomy (the structure of the body), Physiology (the study of normal body function) and Pathology (the study of diseases) is vital to the understanding of both health and illnesses and therefore healing; a knowledge that gives the healer an edge over medical doctors, who are basically and mainly trained in pathology and pharmacology. AND the QXCI is the only device that enables a practitioner to explore the stresses that occur in the whole body system, find solutions and balance it energetically and naturally.

Secondly

- We are aware of the fact that foods are vital for our health. Whilst we say that nutrition is most important, it is not everything. We are body, mind and spirit; and ultimately it is our consciousness, which is determined by the way we think and behave and influenced by both physiology and emotions, which determines how the body turns out physiologically.
- But, when we apply the spiritual, mental, electro-magnetic and other forms of therapies in the healing art, it will be to no avail unless the nutrition foundation is in place. No therapy can ultimately be successful unless nutrition is incorporated into it.

(Good nutrition is fundamental for good health! The human body is a complex system that requires a full and broad spectrum of essential nutrients - in adequate and balanced quantities of macronutrients such as carbohydrates, proteins and fats, and the correct amounts of each of the essential micronutrients - namely the 52 (or so) essential vitamins, minerals and antioxidants. - for optimal health, to re-build, renew and respond to day to day stresses and fight off viruses and bacteria.

Many degenerative diseases are preventable through diet, exercise and positive lifestyle factors!

Optimum broad spectrum nutrition is very important in the short-term - but it is especially important in the long term as we have come to understand the fundamental and multi-faceted role that nutrition plays in defining the risks of many chronic degenerative diseases including heart disease, some cancers, osteoporosis, adult onset diabetes, macular degeneration, cataracts and many nervous system disorders.)

Come and learn/discover how to achieve health and well-being naturally and prepare yourself to be knowledgeable to become a more effective QX practitioner

Diploma in Quantum Healing and Natural Nutrition -

Aim:

1. To spearhead a group of very proficient QX practitioners, who will be equipped with the knowledge of physiology, natural, nutritional and energetic medicine which, combined with Quantum technology, will enable them to help people restore the recuperative, natural healing powers of the human body.
2. To create a QX community and meeting place where all Qxers are welcome to join and meet, to share their experiences and expertise. Anybody in the UK and from abroad is welcome to join us on the second day of each weekend to observe and share.
3. To enable practitioners with no background of Anatomy and Physiology to do a one-year intensive course.
4. To enable practitioners who have Anatomy & Physiology to add on Pathology and nutritional requirements.
5. To enable those who have Anatomy, Physiology and Pathology to add on Natural Medicine and Quantum Therapy.

The course is flexible and depending on your qualifications, you can take:

Course	Duration	Cost
1. Anatomy and Physiology ITEC	10 modules	Jade Coll.
2. Anatomy & Physiology - Correspondence	10 modules	£750
3. Anatomy, Physiology & Pathology	10 modules	£1250
4. Natural Nutrition and Quantum Healing	10 modules	£1500

Notes for 2004/05

- A & P ITEC course will be conducted by Avril Hamilton at Jade College in Bedford (this is not a correspondence course)
- Anatomy & Physiology by correspondence Azizah's Centre for Natural Nutrition and Quantum Healing and IMMUNE (Diploma in A & P)
- Anatomy , Physiology and Pathology by correspondence Azizah's Centre for Natural Nutrition and Quantum Healing and IMMUNE (Diplom ain A, P & P)
- Natural Nutrition and Quantum Healing at Regent's College and York (Diploma in Quantum Healing and Natural Nutrition)
